This map depicts the number of days in a year that are projected to stay below freezing temperatures (0°C and 32°F). Observe how, as the earth warms, fewer days allow for the accumulation of snow.
This map depicts the number of days in a year that are projected to stay below freezing temperatures (0°C and 32°F). Observe how, as the earth warms, fewer days allow for the accumulation of snow.
This map depicts the number of days in a year that are projected to stay below freezing temperatures (0°C and 32°F). Observe how, as the earth warms, fewer days allow for the accumulation of snow.
This map depicts the number of days in a year that are projected to stay below freezing temperatures (0°C and 32°F). Observe how, as the earth warms, fewer days allow for the accumulation of snow.
This map depicts the number of days in a year that are projected to stay below freezing temperatures (0°C and 32°F). Observe how, as the earth warms, fewer days allow for the accumulation of snow.
This map depicts the number of days in a year that are projected to stay below freezing temperatures (0°C and 32°F). Observe how, as the earth warms, fewer days allow for the accumulation of snow.